

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XIX.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, JULY 3, 1891.

NO. 35

CRAB ORCHARD.

—Look out for the glorious fourth. "Rah!"

—Col. Slaughter is making preparations to entertain 1,000 people at Green Brier to-morrow.

—Patten Moore has been allowed a pension of $12 per month by the treasury-looters at Washington.

—No. 25, the south-bound express, killed a fine 2-year-old mule for C. A. Redd, Sr., Tuesday morning.

—Mrs. Dr. G. W. Brough and Miss Mary Mundy have returned to Stanford, after a two weeks' visit at R. H. Brough's. Miss Emma Souper, of Paint Lick, is visiting Mrs. Curtis Govier, her old school-mate.

—The colored "brudders" here will celebrate the glorious fourth with an ice-cream dinner at the public school building. It is, they say, for the benefit of their Sabbath school. Be shore 'en take dat gal ob yo's!

—On the 11th of July (which is the second Saturday), I will exhibit at Spring Hill Park, saddle-horse races, mule races, pony races and thoroughbred races. Remember I am prepared to gait saddle horses and to train trotters and runners. Scott Farris.

—R. H. Brough sold to Jake Robinson, of Garrard, 3 plain feeders at $15. He also delivered to Jim McCarley, July 1st, 20 spring lambs, averaging 7½ lbs. at $5.10 per ewe. Dan'l Richard sold to R. H. Brough 7 head of 700-pound butcher cattle at 2½c.

—Mr. Gallatin Robbitt is in from the West, visiting relatives here. Misses Mollie and Irvie Pittman, two winsome Boyle county beauties, arrived Wednesday to spend a week with their cousin, Miss Bettie Higgins. Miss Sallie Bennett, of Louisville, is with Mrs. J. H. Stephens on Springs Avenue.

—Tom Adams, of the Dripping Springs locality, had a good work mule killed by lightning during the storm Monday, which was very severe in that corner of the universe. The mule was under a tree near the house, and the falling bolt stunned the entire household. No other damage was done.

—Rev. R. H. Caldwell has been employed by I. McHolmes, Esq., to preach once a month at the Holmes' school house. So every 3rd Sunday at 4 o'clock, both sinner and sinner may repair thither with the full assurance of hearing something good for their souls' salvation.

—W. Q. Emison, the whisky manufacturer, of Lebanon, was in town Tuesday. Miss Neville Carson, of Broadhead, and Mrs. Mary Roberts, of Boone county, are the guests of Mrs. Judge W. O. Hansford, on Stanford street. Mr. Jim Burch, of Pineville, is down to see his wife. Mr. Robert Cole, of Barbourville, an old friend of the writer, and now a drummer for Swann, Abram & Co., was in town this week. Mr. Tom Warren, of this place, is now "captain" of a train on the K. D.

—On emerging from Dix's river Monday afternoon, in which he and several friends had been bathing, Mr. J. R. Bailey discovered a leech fastened to the back of his hand. He removed the little blood-sucker and thought no more about it. Tuesday morning, however, when he awoke he found his hand fearfully swollen and his whole arm paining him intensely. He is at his store doing duty, but drugs have failed to give him relief so far.

—Judge Carr, of Glasgow, and his elegant wife, who was a Miss Lynn, and who is extensively related to some of the first families in Lincoln, are here on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Middleton. Judge Carr is circuit judge in the Barren river district, having beaten Leslie four years ago by a handsome majority. He is a staunch republican, and one of the most popular men in the "pennyrite" section. He and his lady contemplate spending a portion of the summer at C. O. Springs.

—There seems to be a schism in the W. C. T. U. organization here just now, occasioned by some dissatisfaction growing out of the late medal contest. At any rate the touch-not, taste-not, handle-not sisterhood, that was wont to meet so regularly every week, hasn't assembled behind closed doors since. Remember, my good sisters, that a house divided against itself can not stand, and that discord stirs up strife. Prithree, lay aside the querulousness that doth so easily beset you, and learn how pleasant it is for "sisters" (as well as brethren) to dwell and work together in unity. On with your noble crusade!

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Miss Annie, daughter of the late William Cassius Goodloe, was married at Lexington to Andrew Leonard.

—Marriage license was issued Wednesday to Mr. George Swope to wed Miss Jennie Baugh at Isaac Phillips yesterday.

—Logan, who knows the ways of women, says in the Times: "The widow of Gen. John A. Logan asseverates that she will never, no never, marry the millionaire pension shark, Lemon, nor any other man. Friends of the charming widow may take this assertion as official notice to lay in a supply of wedding presents."

NEWSY NOTES.

—The Louisville Commercial Club lost $3,000 by the May festival.

—The ice factory at Danville has shut down on account of a failure of the water supply.

—Judges A. E. Cole and W. M. Beckner are announced candidates for the Court of Appeals.

—Thirty skeletons were found in an old ice house at Chicago, and an investigation is being had.

—Gov. Pattison, of Pennsylvania, vetoed 87 of the 414 bills passed by the republican legislature.

—In an egg-eating contest Joe Hanna, of Beaver Falls, Penn., ate 24 eggs, shells and all, in two minutes.

—A steamboat war between Louisville and Cincinnati has put the fare down to 50 cents, or less than a third of a cent a mile.

—It is said that the wine product of California this year will reach 18,000,000 or 20,000,000 gallons—the largest for years.

—White strikers charged upon the imported negro laborers at Franklin, Wash., and killed four. The militia has been called out.

—A switch engine at White Haven, Pa., exploded killing the entire crew, which consisted of an engineer, fireman and two brakemen.

—A bank examiner has taken charge of the Ninth National Bank of Dallas, Tex., and its doors are closed. Depositors will be secured.

—It is stated that the Pineville Iron and Coal Co. has sold its interests in Pineville and vicinity to a rich north-western syndicate for $1,000,000.

—The Illinois court of appeals has decided that guests at a hotel conducted on the "American Plan" may not be charged for meals they have not eaten.

—The Missouri river is at its highest point since 1881. Many farms are overflowed, and crops are ruined. The river has cut a new channel near Atchison.

—The failures for the first half of 1891 aggregate 6,074, with liabilities of $92,000,000, against 5,585 and liabilities of $65,000,000 for the same period in 1890.

—Harvard has conferred the degree of LL. D. on John Randolph Tucker, the most scholarly Southerner and one of the profoundest thinkers among living Americans.

—Lewis Dillinger, who escaped from New England, Mo., over a year ago, the day before he was to have been hanged, was captured at Chicago after a desperate resistance.

—A Grayson county boy tied a gentle cow's tail about his neck the other day while driving the animal to the pasture. The cow became frightened and dragged the boy to death.

—The famous Megibben-Bedford suit, in Woodford, that has been in court for 25 years or more, was decided by a jury in favor of the Megibben heirs, the verdict being for $9,000.

—The statue of Gen. Grant, the largest bronze ever cast in America, arrived at Chicago Monday ready for erection in Lincoln Park. It will be unveiled the first week in October.

—Nearly 200 prominent republicans have signed a protest against Quay controlling the political affairs of Pennsylvania, because his methods are corrupt, unscrupulous and disastrous in results.

—Joseph Patton, who lives near Clifton Hill, in Randolph county, Mo., still has the pony he rode in the confederate army. It is now 34 years old and is as fat as a mole, not having been used any, or very little, for some years.

—J. Hull Davidson who purchased the Phoenix Hotel, at Lexington, for $175,000, has sold a half interest, including the furniture in it, to M. C. Alford and D. F. Frazer for $150,000. These gentlemen will form a stock company and build an additional story.

—The completion of the L. & N. to a connection with the Norfolk & Great Western opens up another and shorter route to the seaboard. From Louisville to Norfolk on the Atlantic ocean is only 706 miles, giving the L. & N. great advantage over any other road.

—Miss Maggie Moore was arrested at Harrodsburg for appearing in male attire, which she donned for the purpose of securing work. Her sweet voice and tiny feet betrayed her. She was only able to earn 75 cents a week as a woman and was unable to get employment even at that.

A Very Disgusted Democrat.

(To the Editor Interior Journal.)

Mr. VERNON, July 1.—The Hon. Henry Harrison Houston, the republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, in his speech here this evening, after claiming the earth and the fullness thereof for his party, claimed in addition that the republican candidates had their democratic competitors on the stump, beaten, whipped, routed, and on the run, by reason of their indorsement, open and fearless advocacy of the New Constitution, and the utter silence and failure on the part of the democrats to approve or oppose or disown it, and that Mr. Brown, seeing the dark shadow of his defeat rising up before him, and in order to check if possible the unmistakable trend of public sentiment against him, had ventured briefly to announce in his Falmouth speech his intention, as an individual, to vote for it but would not again during the canvass allude to or mention the subject. He claimed Mr. Brown would find he was mistaken; that he would not be permitted thus to "run with the hare and hold with the hounds;" that they were after him, and he would have to talk or go to hole.

I am a democrat and will vote the democratic ticket, but as the Courier-Journal in hoisting the "white flag" and crying truce in the midst of the conflict, itself the commander-in-chief, tells us the other members of our ticket will follow the head and make a similar announcement and relapse into silence. I shall take quite as much pleasure in voting against every one of them on the question of the constitution as I will in voting for them for their respective offices. The friends of the new constitution, democrats and republicans, seem to be as much surprised as those who are opposing it at the flop and fall of the Courier-Journal. In Laurel yesterday in Rockcastle to-day, it has been the regret of its friends and the exultant joy of its enemies, and it had as well go into its hole and pull the hole in after it. This canvass is over in Kentucky, for until this constitutional question is settled it can not get a corporal's guard to listen to its articles on the tariff, the McKinley bill and republican corruption and prodigality no matter how ably and truthfully they may be written. As we had thought our greatest general had fled the fields, and lowered his colors before the skirmish line of the enemy, we must fight the battle without him and will surrender only when defeated. In Bell, Knox, Whitley, Laurel and Rockcastle, the people are divided pro and con, but I do believe the majority are opposed to it. The people along the railroad where I have been, have gathered at the stopping places to get a Courier-Journal. Yesterday and to-day very few want it. People mistrust and doubt its sincerity now in everything. A DEMOCRAT.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—Clay county, Mo., will be represented at the World's Fair by a span of mules 18 hands high and weighing 3,800 pounds.

—The 2-year-old colt, His Highness, won the Great Trial Stakes at Sheepshead Bay, beating all the best Eastern youngsters in training.

—The Cincinnati market for cattle is dull with best shippers at 5½ and select butcher 4½ to 5; hogs are active with best at 4.85; sheep are steady at 3 to 3½ lambs 4 to 6½.

—The booth and field privileges of the Garrard county fair will be let to the highest bidder in front of the Court House, July 4th at 10 o'clock. E. W. Lillard, secretary.

—A company has been organized in New York, with a capital of $1,000,000, for cultivating a farm of 112,000 acres in Florida. It will be devoted to the raising of sugar cane and coconuts.

—The finest mare mule seen here for a good many days was one bought by Henry Dunn from J. K. Baughman for $200. She is two years old and as "fine as split silk." Ware & Vermillion cut 240 acres of wheat with two machines in six days and sold it to Funk & Anderson threshed at the shock at 7½.—Advocate.

—W. O. Brock sold to John A. Judy 50 export cattle, weight about 1,000 lbs., to be taken from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15, at 5 cts. He also sold his wheat crop some time ago to Nelson Bros. at 60 cts., delivered at the threshing. This is several cents higher than the market at present. J. L. Brown sold 60 export cattle, delivery last of July, at 5½.—Winchester Democrat.

—Moreland & Lee bought of W. D. Weatherford 24 head nice cattle at 4½ cents; of Emmet McCormack a lot of butcher stuff at 2½ cents; of same 100 ewes at $3.40 per head; of Adam Carpenter 118 at $4 per head. They also bought in Tennessee during the last few days 1,000 ewes at $3.25 per head. The same firm sold to W. M. McAfee 44 ewes at $3.75 per head, and sold to W. H. Prewitt a bunch of wethers at $3.40.

—Dan Burch, a negro who attempted rape on a white girl at Fort Gaines, Ga., was taken from the sheriff, castrated, hung by the heels to a tree and riddled with 250 bullets.

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—R. C. Ford is confined to his bed with typhoid fever.

—Mr. John Hoskins brought an otter in town Wednesday that his boys and dogs had caught in Little Laurel creek, two and a half miles from town.

—Mr. James Province, proprietor of the Province hotel, died Wednesday evening. He had a cancer on his nose, had been there for several years. He had erysipilas with the cancer, which caused his death.

—H. H. Houston, republican candidate for lieutenant governor, spoke here on July 1. He had a fair crowd, numbering when I went in 64. He did not preach any republican doctrine at all, and stated he did not expect to be elected, but that he laid all that aside in favor of the new constitution. His speech can be summed up in three words "Constitution and Courier-Journal." The only thing that is a credit to him and his speaking was that he looked like and spoke like Matt Adams.

WAYNESBURG.

—George Leich lost a valuable mare last week.

—Born to the wife of J. S. Holton a girl, and to the wife of R. Y. Ballard, of old Waynesburg, a boy, both June 29.

—Mrs. R. D. Padgett is quite sick at her father's, Mr. Elan Ball's, of Eubanks. G. E. Fry was at Somerset visiting friends a few days of last week. Mrs. Mettie Cobb, of Bucyrus, O., is visiting her father, Mr. Francis Starnes, here.

—Melvern, the little son of young Kit Brown, who has been very sick with an abscess of the liver, underwent a surgical operation on that organ performed by Drs. O'Bannon and Bryant last Monday. The little fellow is getting weaker and there are little hopes of his recovery.

—Some of the idle idling boys here broke into the depot one day last week and took from it a lot of candy and peaches belonging to one of our merchants. Such youngsters as these ought to be made to hoe corn and chop wood from morning till night besides doing the chores, then we think better citizens would be made of them.

HUBBLE.

—Hog cholera is raging here now, and it seems as though it was purposely sent to thin out the pike hogs, as they can't be reduced by scarcity of corn. Mrs. Blackberry, who had two mules killed by lightning Sunday, had some years back a cow killed by lightning, and last year two mules she sold Walker & Hubble were killed by the same, and has had the fence on the farm struck a time or two. Provisions in the crib and meat house have got too short for the midnight rogue of this community, and they attacked the gardens of John Ball and Henry Spoonamore some nights ago. It is not decided which they will be killed by poison or the shotgun. Miss Maggie Swinebroad is out again after an illness of several days. The two beef clubs meet here Friday, and it is decided by cattle dealers that it will be risky to drive cattle past here on that day till the 32 members get their hungry appetite satisfied. The new constitution seems to be gaining ground in this locality. We regret to learn of the illness of Mrs. Millard Herring, and her old and many friends here extend best wishes for a speedy recovery. The colored people have a picnic on G. A. Swinebroad's place, on Island No. 10, the 4th of July. A grand time is expected, with good music and dancing.

—Mr. XENIA.—Mrs. Bettie Broadhead, a sister of the late Col. A. M. Swope, and daughter, Miss Lena, met with a serious accident Tuesday. The horse they were driving became frightened near the avenue gate of Mr. A. G. T. Smith, and running a mile at a break-neck speed, the vehicle was overturned at the junction of the Danville & Stanford and Shelby City pikes. The occupants were thrown violently to the ground. Mrs. Broadhead had three ribs and collar-bone broken, while Miss Lena suffered the breaking of an arm. Dr. T. M. Lewis was quickly summoned and rendered the necessary professional aid. Mrs. Eugene Kelley can raise more raspberries on a smaller area than anybody. She says she gathered 25 gallons on a space not larger than two rooms, and that she raised 15 or 20 gallons of strawberries on even less ground. The samples she sent us were evidence conclusive the fruit was delicious. Did you know that some of the ladies of Stanford are learning to ride bicycles? Such is the case, but of course within closed doors. Passing a suburban residence the other day, I saw one making a circuit of the room at about a 2:20 gait, gracefully "riding straddle." I saw her but a moment—long enough, however, to assert that she will become an expert in the use of the wheel.

—At an ice-cream church festival at Brushport, N. Y., last Saturday night, 43 persons were poisoned. The pastor of the church and two women have died, and the condition of the others is critical.
